POSITION

- Since 2015      Director of UMR AMAP (Joint Unit CIRAD-CNRS-INRA-IRD-Univ. Montpellier II, Montpellier, France, <http://amap.cirad.fr> ).
- 2012-2014      Deputy Director of UMR AMAP (Joint Unit CIRAD-CNRS-INRA-IRD-Univ. Montpellier II, Montpellier, France, <http://amap.cirad.fr> ).
- 2007-2012      Co-head of the team “Plant Architecture Functioning and Evolution” at UMR AMAP.
- 2005-2006      Senior Scientist and permanent staff of the Sino-French laboratory LIAMA (Laboratory of Computer Sciences, Automation and Applied Mathematics, hosted by the Institute of Automation Chinese Academic of Sciences, Beijing, PR China; <http://liama.ia.ac.cn> ).
- 1995-2005      Co-head of the « Integrative Tree Biomechanics » team at the Laboratory of Wood Rheology (LRBB, Joint Research Unit CNRS-INRA-Univ. Bordeaux I, Bordeaux, France).
Member of the LRBB Scientific Cell.
- Since 1995      Research Scientist at the AMAP Unit, CIRAD-AMIS (Montpellier, France)

MAIN RESEARCH TOPICS

Modelling tree growth and tree biomechanics:

This activity aims to study the biomechanical response of trees to external forces. This research is mainly carried out based on simulation approaches at the plant scale and considering both short time scales, where tree structure can be considered as static, and long time scales where growth processes must be taken into consideration. This research topic includes questions about: 1- tree wind-firmness, e.g. crown-wind and root-soil mechanical interactions; 2- tree growth acclimation to external stimulus, e.g. formation of reaction wood involved in gravi- or photo-tropism; 3- dynamical feedback between shoot bending and ramification in fruit trees and bushes.

Eco-engineering of slope stability:

Root-soil mechanical interactions are also involved in the reinforcement of slopes against erosion and shallow landslides. Finite element models integrating root architectural and biomechanical components have been developed and integrated at the slope scale in order to estimate its factor of safety.

INVITED SPEAKER

- Invited conference on « L'UMR AMAP : plus de trente ans d'expérience de recherche interdisciplinaire en modélisation de l'architecture des plantes » at colloque CIRUISEF – La Recherche Scientifique et ses Interfaces Disciplinaires, 23-27 mai 2016, Marseille, France.
- Invited conference on “Tree architecture: a major component of tree growth models”, at the Colloquium “Forest Biometrics and Computer Science”, 17th October 2013, University of Göttingen, Germany.
- Invited conference on “Is Biomechanics an Important Component of Tree Architecture?”, at the 7th International Conference on Plant Biomechanics, 20-24 August 2012, Clermont Ferrand, France.
- Invited conference on “Models & software for simulating plant architecture and applications”, at the workshop “Modelling tree crown architecture for wood quality prediction”, 6-7 Juin 2011, Alberta University, Canada.
- Invited conference on “Numerical modelling of root-soil interaction”, at the international conference on eco-engineering: the use of vegetation to improve slope stability, 13-17 September 2004, Thessaloniki, Greece.
- Invited conference on “Growth stresses and tree shape”, at the Third International Conference of the European Society for Wood Mechanics, ESWM 2004, 5th to 8th September 2004, Vila Real, Portugal.
- Invited conference on "Sylviculture virtuelle: simulation de la croissance des arbres et de la qualité du bois", at the Colloque National de la Recherche en IUT, IUT de Tarbes, 15 mai 2003.
- Invited conference on “A finite element model to simulate the biomechanical behaviour of trees”, Workshop Finite Element Modelling: From the Tree-Level to the Board-Level, 30 January 2002, FRI, Rotorua, New Zealand.
